Skills

Fluent in Java and Python. Experience in C++, JavaScript, TypeScript, and HTML. Familiar with dependency injection tools, such as Guice and Dagger

Experience

Google / Software Engineering Internship

May 2020 - August 2020, Sunnyvale, CA

Created a client-facing interface to display groups with access to a given product feature. This resulted in a troubleshooting flow to prevent users from needing outside assistance when conducting product modifications. This interface utilized Java for implementation, Google's internal API for the interface, and conducted and handled the RPC in C++.

Created an internal-facing tool to display the state of data filtering for all entities within a product. This tool utilizes Python to read product configs and consolidate each product's data filtering state, and Google's Colab to display the consolidated data. This results in similar clients being submitted for legal review simultaneously. The largest impact seen is reducing 14 individual reviews into 1 review.

Google / Engineering Practicum Internship

May 2019 - August 2019, Boulder, CO

Introduced the ability to filter records for deletion from a local database and the ability to display the records by chosen criteria. This project was written in Java, utilizing producer graphs for implementation, Typescript and HTML for a user interface, and required the use of multiple tools such as Guice and Dagger.
